The Faith Community of St Raymond de Penafort

"We all worked hard, but we had a good time," Nell Steinmiller says of those early days. "It's fun building up a parish. We were all young then."

A principle the Archdiocese had learned over the years in urban parishes was proving to be true in Mount Prospect and other suburbs, too.

"The complex process of church-building actually led to higher levels of commitment among <parishioners>," explained Skerrett, Kantowicz and Avella in their book Catholicism, Chicago Style. "In parish after parish, the campaign to complete a church and school demanded cooperation among Catholics living in a particular area. While the debts incurred were often enormous, fund-raising became an important component of parish life, bringing together members of a congregation in a way that worship alone could not. Built of brick and mortar, these parish complexes provided incontrovertible evidence that <these suburban transplants> and their children were creating a place for themselves" in their new communities.

And fund-raise they did! The women held bake sales in front of Keefer's Pharmacy. They also organized geographic "block clubs" to make things to sell at an annual bazaar.

"The Women's Club was VERY active then," recalls Jeanette White. "If you were a woman in the parish, you belonged, no matter what your age. We never had any guilds at St. Raymond. It was always organized on a neighborhood basis. Neighbors would get together and be responsible for a booth at the bazaars."

"It was rough starting a parish. We had no money," recalls parishioner Myron Weigle. "So the Catholic Men's Club (which later became the Holy Name Society) would hold spaghetti dinners, fish fries and other similar fund-raisers every night of a given weekend on a periodic basis at St. Mary in Buffalo Grove. They were very kind to us."

Other aspects of parish life also began to fall into place. The Christian Family Movement began crusading with great success against objectionable magazines at local stores, asking merchants to put them behind the counter and away from the hands of children.

Parishioners Gertrude Ahern and Helen Urquhart prepared 14 children for First Holy Communion and on May 14, 1950 (Mother's Day) the parish held its first ceremony of First Communion at Central School.

And parishioners Jean Jarosz, Helen Gorny, Jean Rodda and Julie Brossart began organizing a choir. Joseph Molumby became its first director and organist. The choir made its debut at Christmas Midnight Mass in 1950 and its members included Jarosz, Gorny, Rodda and Brossart, as well as Santa Riccio, Jane Nicoll, Marge Louthain, Irene Jenal, George Laubenheimer, Robert Nicoll, Mrs. Baker and Fred Thulin.

Father O'Brien also granted an interview to the Mount Prospect Herald newspaper. In the resulting article, which appeared in the October 6, 1950 issue, he announced tentative plans for a 140,000 square foot church and school complex. His plans at the time called for a two-story building with four classrooms on the upper floor (each of which were to accomodate 48 children) and a large multi-purpose room on the first floor to be used for Masses, social functions and community activities. He also planned a "bungalow-type" structure which would connect the two-story unit to a second unit to be built later. This bungalow structure, according to the article, would house school and church offices; a pastor's apartment and study on the upper floor; and a kitchen and boiler room on the lower level. He also mentioned that he was trying to make arrangements for the "necessary nuns to conduct the school" because, as of that interview, Mount Prospect had 250 Catholic families with 362 children of all ages.

When the tiny little church was completed, it was cause for great celebration and Samuel Cardinal Stritch came out to dedicate the building on June 29, 1952. Having the Cardinal in the village caused a lot of excitement among area Catholics.

Plans changed, however, and Father O'Brien ended up building the second unit first. It consisted of a small church with a choir loft which was dedicated by Cardinal Stritch on June 29, 1952. Father O'Brien had been directed to expedite the construction because neighboring parishes were quickly becoming overcrowded. St. Raymond already boasted 306 families. So Thomas L. Edward Cooke, architect brother of Monsignor Vincent W. Cooke, was called upon to design the little sanctuary.

The resulting church was considered a departure from churches of the past because it was "a blend of richness and simplicity in brick, wood and stone," according to a 1954 newspaper clipping from an unknown publication. In the article, St. Raymond's tiny church was held up as an example of the new, "anti-traditionalist" thinking in church architecture.

"Architects have been complaining for years that it doesn't make sense to copy traditional church designs with modern building materials," the article explained. "... if the cathedral builders of the 12th century had steel beams and glass bricks available they wouldn't have built any Gothic churches for us to imitate. An increasing number of pastors and congregations have come to agree that it is appropriate to use today's new materials to seek new forms of beauty in churches."

Adelaide Thulin recalls it as "a lovely little church." No one ever expected it to be the parish's final church. Even the abovementioned article explained that the church they were featuring so prominently would someday "become a parish auditorium when a larger church eventually is built."

In the meantime, William Frawley continued to buy up lots within the block. Arthur and Lillian Niemann sold him Lot 10 on June 4, 1951; John and Anne Baldwin of San Francisco, CA sold him Lots 14 and 15 on November 18, 1952; and John and Rosella Zgonena sold him Lot 7 on May 19, 1953.

And life went on. Frank Baldini was the first parishioner who died. He was mourned and buried from the temporary sanctuary at Central School on February 24, 1951.

The first marriage within the new parish was that of Jean Miller and John Henry Michels on August 31, 1951. It was witnessed by Father O'Brien. And the sacrament of Confirmation was administered to 33 youths from St. Raymond by Bishop William O'Brien, auxiliary bishop of Chicago, on May 6, 1952.

The brick, wood and stone church which Thomas L. Edward Cooke designed for St. Raymond caused a bit of a stir in church architecture circles. It was held up as a sterling example of anti-traditionalist thinking in church architecture.

Religious Education PROGRAM

PROGRAM OPTIONS FOR 2020-2021

1. Home Study: Just as years-past, students will have the option to read chapters of the book and complete the chapter or unit review at the end. Students are able to work at their own pace, and are guided through time management by using a provided curriculum overview

2. BOXED-In: while we were forced to think "outside the box", we realized that putting everything into a box actually makes the most sense! Similar to a "monthly subscription box", each enrolled child/teen will receive the required curriculum, lessons, and activities (see below for more details and information) every month.

Summer Supper

Summer Suppers during COVID19

As much as we might like to invite you to sit down at our tables for supper, this summer, we can't.

Impelled by a concern for our guests and volunteers, the Summer Suppers program has been modified to adapt to the COVID19 social distancing protocols.

Volunteers will be screened each night for elevated temperature and signs of the virus. Additionally, they will wear masks and gloves and observe all appropriate safety guidelines. Meals will be delivered without contact and we ask that you leave the property immediately so that we can serve those behind you. Please help us by wearing a mask, too.

Be safe. We pray that next summer, in the "new normal", we can again share supper in person around a table as community.

Ministry Information

We are all in need to stay connected during our social distancing. Here are the ministries should you need to reach out.

Support Groups for Those Suffering with Addiction and Their Loved Ones

Alcoholics Anonymous (AA) | Co-Dependents Anonymous (CODA)

Drug, alcohol and gambling addiction is a disease which is chronic, progressive and treatable, but terminal if untreated. Recovery is possible if the person is willing to ask for help and work toward that goal. Families with addicted family members also need help and understanding. Worry, fear and anger destroy both relationships and the family unit. The Substance Abuse Team is available to reach out with support and care. CONFIDENTIALITY AND ANONYMITY are the very essence of our ministry.

Ministry for Our Homebound Parishioners

Are you aware that any parishioner who is recuperating following an accident, illness, or surgery is welcome to receive the Eucharist at home? If you or a loved one is homebound and would like a visit from a Minister of Care, please contact Sr. Val at 847-253-8600 x 143 or email Sr.Val@St-Raymond.org to make arrangements.

We are happy to bring St. Raymond to you!

Patients at Northwest Community Hospital

In late October we received word from the Spiritual Care Services Department at Northwest Community Hospital that they will no longer send the daily patient census to the Ministry of Care Coordinators at the parishes and other churches. Up to this time, Sr. Val received a confidential listing of St. Raymond parishioners at NCH, enabling us to offer the pastoral care that we want to provide for our parishioners experiencing illness requiring hospital care. Due to this change in policy, there is no way to know if any of our parishioners are at NCH. Therefore, if a loved one has been hospitalized at NCH, we would deeply appreciate a call or email with this information. This is also true for patients at Lutheran General, Alexian Brothers, and Resurrection Hospitals. Please contact Sr. Val at 847-253-8600 x 143 or Sr.Val@St-Raymond.org when a loved one is hospitalized so that we can continue to provide pastoral care during a time of illness. Thank you.

St. Raymond Parish Domestic Violence Outreach Awareness-Services-Prevention

Awareness

Domestic violence is a pattern of behavior. It is used to exert power and control over another person. It is found in the context of a dating, family or household relationship.

Questions to ask:

- Does your partner isolate you from family and friends?
- Are you being physically, psychologically, economically or sexually abused?
- Is your partner attempting to destroy your self-esteem and self-confidence?

Domestic violence victims often report:

"I didn't know it was abuse."
"I thought I could fix it."
"I didn't tell anyone."

These are traps that keep people bound.

Domestic violence. Dating Violence.

Pray for Our Sick As Members of the Parish Faith Community, it is our responsibility to remember both in concrete and spiritual ways those who cannot celebrate with us each week because they are ill. Those who are sick in turn, remember all of us daily in their prayers and in their sufferings. We experience many blessings because of their remembering us. And so ... please remember in your prayers the people listed. *Infant
