I have spent 38 years working in the corporate world. My last 23 years were at Essendant, formerly named United Stationers, where I was most recently Vice President of Engineering and Real Estate. Essendant is the largest wholesale supplier of office and business products. Prior to that I had spent 15 years at Baxter in a variety of management roles. I have a bachelors degree in Industrial Engineering from Iowa State University and an MBA in Finance from DePaul University.

My wife Donna and I live in Hawthorn Woods where we have been long time members at St. Francis de Sales parish. We have two grown daughters that went through the parish school and also graduated from Carmel Catholic High School. Our oldest daughter, Lauren, graduated from Butler University. Lauren and her husband currently live in Indianapolis. Our younger daughter, Amy, graduated from Iowa State University and is now in graduate school at Vanderbilt, pursuing her PhD,

I am excited to join the St. Raymond team and community. After a successful career in business, I look forward to this next chapter in life where I can give back to the Catholic faith community. This will also be a bit of a return to my roots as I grew up in Arlington Heights and attended Prospect High School. I have many good memories from growing up in this area.

New Year, New Learning Spaces

The Saints are happy to return to school to learn with their friends and teachers. This school year, the classrooms look different. Our maintenance staff helped to create alternative learning spaces in and around campus. During our first week of school, we enjoyed perfect weather, which allowed for snack/mask breaks and outdoor classes. Even our littlest Saints in preschool have adapted to the new spaces and routines. We are excited to learn and grow this year wherever our classrooms may be!

Preschool students follow the arrows to their new cubby locations.

Our 8th graders work on their book talk projects for literature class outside on the church steps.

Mrs. Cunningham's preschool classmates connecting class with remote learners!

Below is our list of the students receiving their First Holy Communion this Fall. We are so proud of each of them! They have been preparing for this sacred Sacrament for over two-years.

Let us join together these next two weeks, and lift up these First Communicants with our prayers. May they continue their Catholic formation with their families, so that they will continue to learn about God and their faith. May they continue to feel the presence of Jesus as they receive His Body and Blood.

August 26, 2020

Dear Parents of Teens of St. Raymond:

We hope that you and your students are settling into the new school year routine even if it looks a bit different than the last. This letter is an invitation for you to welcome Diana Arizmendi as the new Coordinator of Youth and Young Adult Ministry at St. Raymond. We had hoped by now to have had an opportunity for you to meet her in person, but given the current pandemic that has not been a possibility. Despite that, please know that in the short time Diana has been with us, we have been praying for your families, especially the teens as we understand how challenging and isolating this health crisis continues to be for them.

In his letter to young people, Christus Vivit, Pope Francis reminds us that “youth ministry involves two main courses of action... One is outreach, the way we attract new young people to an experience of the Lord. The other is growth, the way we help those who have already had that experience to mature in it.” What an incredible and awesome responsibility Pope Francis lays out for a parish community to cultivate moments of encounter with our Lord, Jesus Christ. As a parish we are called to be relevant, engaging and inclusive for our Church to help teens grow in deeper relationships with Jesus and each other.

We recognize the necessity in continuing to offer opportunities that allow this next generation to explore our faith, create lasting friendships, discuss relevant topics, and find belonging to the larger Church. We are extremely thankful that there is a robust High School Youth Ministry through Branches for over the last 30 years and are excited to continue these efforts by building upon the solid foundation laid before us. Our hope is that Branches Youth Ministry will equip a teen to face the joys and challenges of life and strengthen their conviction of living out our Catholic faith as witnesses to the love of Christ.

The core of the Branches program is meeting in small groups, and this is a value that will be preserved. In the small group setting, teens develop a sense of trust and build community with others in their group. We believe that all teens should have a unified experience within Branches Youth Ministry that will provide them with the encouragement and tools they need to grow deeper in their faith and be aware of God's presence in their lives. In order to provide a consistent experience for all teens, we will be introducing Life Teen resources to our parish. Life Teen provides many resources, curriculum and support for teens, parents and mentors that are relevant and engaging to the lives of the teens. Branches Youth Ministry will continue to meet every two weeks on Sunday evenings as in the past. Our sessions will include a large group gathering where a talk will be given to all teens and after that they will break off into small groups. Sessions will be led by Diana and members of the adult core team mentors will help facilitate small groups and other activities.

As Catholics we are called to foster a great sense of community not just in our own homes or parish but in our surrounding communities at large. Currently, best practices of the Archdiocese of Chicago do not support continued regular youth meetings in homes. Instead, we are asked to host meetings and activities at the parish campus in order to ensure the safety of all participants but also to empower all to grow in community and be more inclusive. For the Branches program in the fall, the Archdiocese is allowing us to host an in-person kickoff event for our program on campus and after that all of our meetings will be held virtually through Zoom until the Archdiocese determines it is safe for us to resume sessions on the parish campus.

In looking to the future of youth ministry at St. Raymond, we face the challenge of how to welcome all interested teens into Branches Youth Ministry. All recent studies of young adult Catholics who have left the practice of their faith show us how important it is to engage teens. In order to welcome all teens into Branches Youth Ministry we do need to increase our pool of adult mentors. We would like to invite any adults over 21 years old, who feels called to be part of the adult core team of mentors, to contact Diana at d.arizmendi@st-raymond.org to discuss your interest in being a mentor.

We have seen firsthand that high school students have been asked to pivot in every aspect of their life for the last 6 months and they have done so with resilient grace, compassion, and humility. This gives us great hope that as the parish shifts the way we engage the teens this fall, to align with the current Archdiocese of Chicago guidelines, they will remain open and present to Jesus and His calling.

Please pray, along with us and core team members, that we may continue to be attentive to the calling of the Holy Spirit as we minister to the teens of our community.

Blessings,

Fr. Scott Hebden, Pastor

refused to contribute, most helped. You have to remember that the people we were approaching had all come through the Depression, but most were still willing to contribute."

The campaign was obviously successful because parishioner Theodore Erbach, a well-known church architect, was commissioned in 1960 to design a new church and the ground was broken on the southeast corner of the block during the spring of 1961. The original church had grown too cramped. In fact, extra Masses were being held down the street at Lincoln Junior High School to accommodate the crowds. St. Raymond boasted 1500 families by now. So the school's playground was sacrificed for the cause of a more spacious, air-conditioned, church. Eight more classrooms were simultaneously added to the school and the two buildings connected.

Modeled after St. Gerald Church in Oak Lawn, the church was built of Norman brick with bedford and Lannon stone by Schillmoeller and Krofl General Contractors at a cost of $410,000. The floor was made of terrazzo and all three altars were made of Italian marble, as were the statues. The brick of the main wall of the sanctuary was laid in a special pattern which formed the reredos behind the altar and a huge crucifix of ebony adorned it.

All of the appointments in the church, including the stained glass windows and pews with seating capacity of 1200, were donated by parishioners.

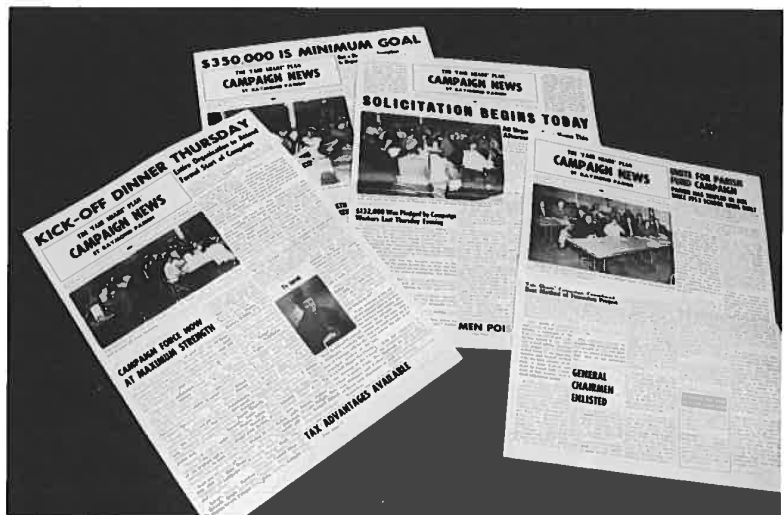

Auxiliary Bishop Hillinger paid a visit to the new church on August 31, 1961 to consecrate the three altars so that the congregation could make use of the new facility. But it wasn't formally dedicated until April 29, 1962 when Albert Cardinal Meyer traveled to Mount Prospect to give it his blessing.

Throughout his pastorate at St. Raymond, Father O'Brien was known to be a quiet, friendly Irishman who usually had a joke to tell. He also tried his best to accommodate his parishioners whenever possible within the strictures of the Church. Men who had to leave daily Mass (which was much better attended then) to catch a train for work were offered the opportunity to take Communion before Mass instead of near the end of it. This practice continued throughout the next pastor's tenure at St. Raymond, too, and on into the early 1970s, according to Jeanette White and Marie Pope.

Adelaide Thulin remembers a story Father O'Brien told about working on the grounds around the church one day, dressed in a sweatshirt and work pants. A car full of women from another town pulled up and stopped their car, asking when someone would be available to hear their confessions. Father O'Brien recalled pulling his stole out of his pocket, draping it around his neck and Fund-raising campaigns in the early years were so important and well-orchestrated that special campaign newspapers were published each week and huge kick-off dinners were held to inspire the workers.

telling the women, "at St. Raymond, even the gardener hears confession!"

According to Myron Weigle, Father O'Brien also had a weakness for banana cake, walking a couple of blocks quite often just to get one from Weigle's wife, Charlotte.

But as with most people, there were apparently many sides to Father O'Brien. Weigle remembers how hard he drove himself and his parishioners to begin the parish with nothing and built it into something enviable.

Whereas Thulin remembers his softer side. Father O'Brien used to tell his flock that the Christmas Gospel was the greatest homily that could be given. Nothing else was needed.

broiled in a controversy. A consortium of dentists from Glencoe, headed by Dr. Meyer Kushner, purchased the eastern half of the block and, according to Ken and Marcella Odmark, planned to built an apartment building with an alley there.

But the Odmarks and their neighbors in the 400 block of South I-Oka Avenue got together and protested the plan to the Village fathers and it was rejected.

"It was completely filled with trees over there," Marcella Odmark recalls. "The kids always played there. They called it the 'lost jungle.' We didn't protest to save the trees, though. We just didn't want a city-style apartment building with an alley in Mount Prospect. That's what we had left behind in the city."

When the dentists' plan was rejected, they were forced to find a buyer and Father O'Brien had the foresight to realize that he needed the land for a parking lot.

"We had all of these families walking to church each Sunday or parking on nearby streets," recalls Ben Trapani, "and Father O'Brien realized that we needed a place for all of these cars. So he came to me and asked me to negotiate for the property."

Once again, go-betweens were used. Using church money, Walter and Lois Lemke

Support Groups for Those Suffering with Addiction and Their Loved Ones

Alcoholics Anonymous (AA) | Co-Dependents Anonymous (CODA)

Drug, alcohol and gambling addiction is a disease which is chronic, progressive and treatable, but terminal if untreated. Recovery is possible if the person is willing to ask for help and work toward that goal. Families with addicted family members also need help and understanding. Worry, fear and anger destroy both relationships and the family unit. The Substance Abuse Team is available to reach out with support and care. CONFIDENTIALITY AND ANONYMITY are the very essence of our ministry.

Please call our team members for help:

Ministry for Our Homebound Parishioners

Are you aware that any parishioner who is recuperating following an accident, illness, or surgery is welcome to receive the Eucharist at home? If you or a loved one is homebound and would like a visit from a Minister of Care, please contact Sr. Val at 847-253-8600 x 143 or email Sr.Val@St-Raymond.org to make arrangements.

We are happy to bring St. Raymond to you!

Patients at Northwest Community Hospital

In late October we received word from the Spiritual Care Services Department at Northwest Community Hospital that they will no longer send the daily patient census to the Ministry of Care Coordinators at the parishes and other churches. Up to this time, Sr. Val received a confidential listing of St. Raymond parishioners at NCH, enabling us to offer the pastoral care that we want to provide for our parishioners experiencing illness requiring hospital care. Due to this change in policy, there is no way to know if any of our parishioners are at NCH. Therefore, if a loved one has been hospitalized at NCH, we would deeply appreciate a call or email with this information. This is also true for patients at Lutheran General, Alexian Brothers, and Resurrection Hospitals. Please contact Sr. Val at 847-253-8600 x 143 or Sr.Val@St-Raymond.org when a loved one is hospitalized so that we can continue to provide pastoral care during a time of illness. Thank you.

St. Raymond Parish Domestic Violence Outreach Awareness-Services-Prevention

Awareness

Domestic violence is a pattern of behavior. It is used to exert power and control over another person. It is found in the context of a dating, family or household relationship.

Questions to ask:

- Does your partner isolate you from family and friends?
- Are you being physically, psychologically, economically or sexually abused?
- Is your partner attempting to destroy your self-esteem and self-confidence?

Domestic violence victims often report:

"I didn't know it was abuse."
"I thought I could fix it."
"I didn't tell anyone."

These are traps that keep people bound.

Domestic violence. Dating Violence.
No Excuse

You are loved and you are not alone.

Pray for Our Sick As Members of the Parish Faith Community, it is our responsibility to remember both in concrete and spiritual ways those who cannot celebrate with us each week because they are ill. Those who are sick in turn, remember all of us daily in their prayers and in their sufferings. We experience many blessings because of their remembering us. And so ... please remember in your prayers the people listed. *Infant
